Time is the Test.

The Testimony of Norway People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The people soon find out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Norway people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make life statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main street, Norway, Me., says:—"Some years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Stone's Drug Store, soon made me feel better in every way. On occasions since then, when a cold has settled in my kidneys, I have taken a few doses of this remedy and have never failed to find prompt relief." (Statement given July 24, 1905.)

RE ENDORSEMENT.
On July 17, 1911, Mr. Foster said:—"I willingly corroborate the statement I gave for publication a few years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I use this remedy occasionally, and it keeps my kidneys in a normal condition." 23

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts., Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

An Experienced Pair.
One of the most discouraging features of life in Tripoli, as in other Mohammedan countries, is the condition of these veiled, fantastic women. Those of the richer class live in untutored idleness; the poor, in even more ignorance, and constant ill-directed drudgery. A missionary, for whom the wife of a mulatto was preparing supper, noticed that she set aside in a furtive way a small part of the tea and sugar.

"Why do you do that?" was asked.

"Oh," said the woman, "I must provide against the day when my husband may divorce me."

She then made the startling announcement that she was her husband's sixth wife, and that he was her sixth husband, says the Christian Herald.

Patients in the Central Maine General hospital, Lewiston, are Joseph A. Farham, Norway; Stella French, Norway; Mrs. Elzbie Morse, Waterford.

My Garland.

Written for the Advertiser.

Once in life's early morning,
I plucked a garland of rare flowers,
I said, "Let fairest bloom be mine,
No toilsome road shall grace my brow."
But I was young and full of life,
That emblem of undying love,
The thornless rose that leaves no pain,
But purest joy like that which I was,
The sweetest mignonette and thyme,
The heart's ease and forget-me-not;
I fast the shrine of love back onto,
And peace and pleasure be my lot.
The lily of the valley, too, I chose,
Sweetly, white as angel's wings;
And I live the spell while others frown,
And call them dumb and senseless things.
I lay in gifts kind nature gives,
Seeing behind the cloud a sun,
And when the darkest frowns the sky,
My erstwhile treasures smile, each one.
I weep, and oft these sun-kissed flowers
Resplendent, cast a plying smile,
And suggest the rose I wear,
Grasping the flowers I culled ere-while.
And so, when angry frowns the deep,
My garland of love is back onto me,
None but myself may understand
The language sweet, for now I see,
When others dream inspire me on,
I am the garland of love, the shining light,
Through bright a mission to fulfill,
Rare gifts of God's light.
JENNIE E. SNOW KIMBALL.

The Great Remedy.

For those whose hearts are sick with care,
For those who weep and sigh and fret,
For those who work for those who weep,
There is no hope that equals sleep.
One night of sleep will do you good,
When we were children, long ago,
The kind of sleep that nature brings,
When we were weary of our day's work,
The kind of sleep that closed our eyes
When soothed by mother's lullabies—
That's the kind of sleep we need now,
The cure for every mortal pain!
One night of sleep is worth a ton
Of all the doctors ever sold,
One night of sleep, when weary and blue,
Will fix you up as good as new.
If you'd enjoy this noble balm,
Your soul must be healed and calm,
And if that calmness you'd attain,
Your life should be without a stain.
If you seek your peace and rest,
Your conscience prods you in the head,
Recalling actions mean and base,
Your falsehoods in the marketplace,
The evil things that you have wrought
Since last you occupied that cot,
Then sleep will wash away shedding tears;
The night will seem a hundred years.
WALD MARION.

How to Have a Happy New Year.

The new year lies before us with all its mystery and incompleteness, and since we cannot forecast the events of a single day, not even an hour, it is well to plan some line of action that will serve to safely anchor us, whatever may come.

Perhaps the best thing is simply to plan to make the most of today and hope for the best things for tomorrow, casting aside all needless fear and worry about the days to come to San Antonio, Texas, mine to make the present rich and complete in the things accomplished. The best of life is yet to come to all of us, if we will but have it so; perhaps not the propensities, perhaps in some respects not the hopes, but the best, and that is really the thing worth while in life.

A Good Example.

The last of the year is the time when books are balanced, accounts straightened out and plans laid for a larger business during the next year. In making your plan do not overlook the importance that a good Bank should occupy in your transactions. A Bank Account carries with it a prestige and an impression of prosperity not easily gained in any other way.

Yet it is easy and simple to carry on a Bank Account—just bring in or mail your deposit and then when you pay a bill draw a check for the amount owed. At the end of the year you can take your cancelled checks, returned to you by the Bank, and see how and where the money went.

For 39 years we have bought and sold bonds. We have on hand Municipal Bonds netting 4 per cent and better which we offer for sale. Four per cent to five and one-half per cent is not a sudden road to wealth, but safety after all, is the vital consideration.

SWIFT'S ANIMAL FERTILIZERS

A VERY NECESSARY FACTOR in the raising of profitable crops, is the reasonable use of the right kind of fertilizer, not only to stimulate plant growth and proper nourishment, but to improve the nature of the soil as well. You are sure of such crops by using Swift's Animal Fertilizers properly applied. Being rich in organic matter—Bone, Blood, Meat, with high grade potash, they supply essential plant food in available forms.

READ THIS EVIDENCE
"I started last spring to raise a big onion crop, and notwithstanding the dryest season for years, I harvested 340 bushels on one-half acre. I used a fair amount of stable dressing and one-half ton of your Potato Phosphate—also my potatoes were a good crop, yielding a bushel from eight hills on part of the field. I consider your Fertilizer the best I ever used."—A. ANDERSON, Lakeville, Mass.
"I used five tons of your Swift's Potash Fertilizer last season on 13 acres, and got a crop of 160 bushels of nice potatoes, and naturally I am well pleased with the results."—G. K. LINNELL, Stetson, Maine.

Swift's Lowell Animal Fertilizers are made for all soils and all crops. Our formulas are based on fifteen years' practical experience with New England needs and conditions. See our local agent, or write us direct for our Valuable Crop Handbook.

New Century Pomona.

The New Century Pomona was held with Grange at East Sumner. The attendance was 175 members. The fifth degree was worked on Philip Tucker, W. H. Bonney, Blanche Bonney, Caroline Horton, Horace Crockett, Annie Crockett, Mitha McPherson, Agnes McPherson, Angie Morrill, C. N. Bell and Georgia Bell. These were all from Union Grange.

The drop curtain in the hall, recently remodeled, is a local scene from Hedgehog hill, scullied, and is one of the beauty spots of Maine. North Pond is directly in front and Mt. Tom forms the background, with several lesser hills around. This curtain was painted by a noted Boston artist.

The committee on the banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Grose, Mrs. Nellie Stephens, Mrs. Ida Bonney, Mrs. W. D. Tucker, J. F. Palmer. It was a good job they did and all were satisfied.

Officers for next year were installed:—
M. L. H. Biebe.
O. H. H. Richards.
May T. Richardson.
S. C. E. Richardson.
A. S. N. M. White.
Clary—Lucia Walker.
Treas—A. F. Russell.
Sec—A. J. Eastman.
S. K. Johnson Shaw.
Ceres—Kosa Sweet.
Pomona—Alice Biebe.
Flora—Clara M. Richardson.
L. A. S. Rose White.
Ester—C. W. Thurston, J. M. Millett, W. H. Eastman, E. L. Torrey.

The music during the day was fine. W. H. Eastman acted as master during the installation exercises. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonney and O. M. Richardson acted as assistants. The singers were: Mrs. Mabel Stephens, Mrs. Ora Morrill, Mrs. G. H. Haskell, Mrs. Lilla Palmer, Mrs. Addie Keene, Mrs. Irene Stetson, Mrs. E. R. H. Stetson and Mrs. A. S. Barrows. Mrs. Annie Ayley presided at the piano.

The retiring master, E. L. Torrey, has made a most efficient officer for two years. In the literary program, "America" was sung by the entire audience rising, and then some music by Ernest Stetson, Mrs. Haskell, Mrs. Cobb and A. L. Barrows. This quartet was loudly applauded and encored. To this they responded. Past Master Torrey spoke of the courtesy of the visiting members, especially the musicians and moved that a vote of thanks be given them. It was announced that the next meeting would be with Rockemeka Grange in Peru.

Bald Heads Not Wanted.

Baldness is Too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age.
A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance to be blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too general accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.
Probably 65 per cent. of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, and the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.
We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer, our statement no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.
We want every one in Norway who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "99" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user.

We are established right here in Norway, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of cream we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer if we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. F. P. Stone, 142 Main Street, Norway, Me.

Catarrh of the Lungs

Threatened Her Life.

Miss Ninette Porter, Brainerd, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."
"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me. I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it.
"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me.
"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment.
"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

With the Immortals.

The Anxiety of Noah.—It was the first day out, and Noah was standing on the upper-deck, nervously sweeping the vast expanse of the waters with his eye.
"What matter, Noah?" said Shem, leaning against the rail beside his father.
"Anything gone wrong?"
"I don't know my boy," said the old gentleman. "But if the wind continues to blow in this direction, I'm afraid we'll land somewhere in the United States, and if that happens the duty on the menagerie of ours will bust me."
Whereupon, ringing for the Library Steward, the Skipper called for a copy of the latest tariff schedule, and spent the remainder of the morning in an anxious perusal of the same.
Casablanca's Consolation.—The boy was slumped upon the burning-deck whence all him had fled.
"I guess I'm done for," he said as he glanced around him, "but there's one comfort; they'll never be able to say I had cold feet!"
Whereupon he went below gaily whistling that popular ballad:
"You needn't see up for me, for I ain't a comin' back."

Sir Walter's Good Fortune.—Sir Walter Raleigh had called to take a cup of tea with Queen Elizabeth.
"It was very good of you, Sir Walter," said her Majesty, smiling sweetly upon the gallant knight, "to ruin your cloak the other day so that my feet should not wet by that horrid puddle. May I not instruct my Lord High Treasurer to reimburse you for it?"
"Why mention it, your Majesty," replied Raleigh. "It only cost two and six and I have already sold it to an American collector for eight thousand pounds."
Charles The Second's Retort.—"What ever he lacked in qualities of the heart," said Lord Clarendon, in discussing Cromwell with the King, "we must admit that he had a good head."
"Why should we not admit it?" said Charles, with a glittering eye. "He took my father's."

A Moment of Triumph.—Browning had just finished his poem "Sordello." "There, by George!" he ejaculated as he signed his name at the end. "If that hasn't got Henry James and the Sherman Law skinned ninety-two ways at once in the line of periphrastic ambagiosity and uniphrastic obfuscation, I'll go in for vitrified diaphanousity from this time on."
Not In the Life.—"All great men have their weaknesses," Doctor, said Boswell taking his fountain pen out of his pocket, "and so I am going to ask you what you consider the most asinine thing you ever said."
"Boswell!" replied Dr. Johnson, without a moment's hesitation.—"Lippincott's."

Simple Weather Tellers.

Most people know the state of the atmosphere, whether it be dry or moist, has a direct bearing on coming weather. Rain and unsettled conditions are likely when the air is full of moisture, and fine weather may be expected when the reverse is the case. Now, the greater number of weather contrivances are simply hygroscopes—devices to tell us whether the air is dry or moist. One of the oldest and simplest of these is the seaweed. Suspended in a porch, or in an apartment where there is no fire, the weed is crisp and dry at the approach of fine weather, whilst it is flabby and moist when rain is likely.

A common toy, the Swiss weather-house, is really quite reliable in its forecasts. The woman, of course, emerges from the little house in fine weather, whilst the man comes out when weather conditions are to be feared. If the medium state of the atmosphere both figures stand just inside the house. The movements are due to the twisting of a cord of catgut, a substance which is highly sensitive to changes in the humidity of the air.

One of the strangest of all weather devices is that which has been called the butterfly hyroscope. In this the wings of the Egyptian wild cat are employed, these being highly responsive to variations in atmospheric moisture. The body is formed of a piece of cardboard, whilst on each side is attached an awn. The awns must be placed in opposite directions on either side of the wings, the lower parts being fastened down to the base on which the butterfly is mounted. The awns should be fixed in position on a damp day, so that the wings of the insect are closed. As the atmosphere becomes dryer the will be found that the butterfly's wings slowly open; this is, of course, simply due to the twisting of the lower parts of the awns, which pull over the upper portion fastened against the wings.

Probably one of the most sensitive weather contrivances is the foil hyroscope. This consists of three slips of jeweler's foil—thin silver covered on one side with varnish. The slips should be cut with scissors, and then twisted round a piece of wire until they resemble single leaves. A little framework is made, and the three ringlets placed in position, supported by needles running up the center.

The upper end of each piece of foil is attached with a cord to a small wooden peg, and at the lower part small flags, bearing on one side the letters dry and on the other wet, are attached. The contrivance is set to wet in damp weather, a wire being stretched across the back of the framework so that letters from going too far back. It will be found that very slight changes in the humidity of the atmosphere will induce the little flags to turn round, and in this way give us an indication of what we may expect.

The Antiquity of Racing.

The race horse in the eyes of many, is a necessary evil. From the days of Ptolemy down to the present, men have raced horses in spite of all manners of opposition, raised by the many fanatics and individuals, who seem to behold the belief that they were created for the sole purpose, of directing affairs in keeping within their narrow and warped ideas. In Wallace's "Ben Hur," he makes his description of the chariot race the most beautiful and interesting chapter, of his "Tale of Christ," and when the magnificent story was staged, the reproduction of the race proved to be an attraction of the greatest value.

The Egyptians, Babylonians and Assyrians each had their own stable of the very best obtainable, so had many prominent Greeks and Romans, and without even the slightest degree of abatement in the interest of the sport, it has gone on down the centuries, even to the present one. Job's best description is of the horse—his very poorest, of the wife. And yet from what we learn, his peculiar physical condition certainly required more assistance from the gentle touch of the tender female, than from the snarl of the horse who snuffeth the battle afar off. Solomon, too, had more horses than wives. From what we can learn, that vigorous gentleman whose chief desire appeared to be to take his wife and thankless children, managed always to keep up about three horses for every new bride he took to himself.

There is hardly a great man in history, which can be touched by a pen, but speaks of his favorite horse. Darwin once said, that man was distinguished from all other animals in that he laughs; and we may as well add, that a civilized man is distinguished from all other men, in that he will bet on a horse race. It is wrong, we are told, to bet it is wrong to bet on the price of stocks, grain, raffie off an article, or make a bill with your grocer when the chances are ten to one that you will never pay it—and a hundred other kind of staggering. We can't stop it—being inherited from our earliest ancestors and will no doubt remain with us, till the end of time. But we may do one thing—we may refrain from betting, ourselves, and if people must bet, horse racing is the worst of the lot. We should insist that the race be an honest one.

How to Mend a Leaking Ice Pan.

Melt paraffin and while it is hot pour a coating over the bottom of the leaking pan, having first set it on a newspaper. Some of the paraffin will run through the holes in the pan, but it can be scraped off and is just as good to use again. Of course this pan can never be used on the stove, but serves very effectively for the ice water pan beneath the refrigerator.

MAINE TRUNK LINE ROADS

About $300,000 Available to Aid Them Next Year

AN EXPERT GIVES HIS VIEWS

John Clark Scates Shows How Roads Now in Deplorable Condition May Be Put and Kept in Proper Condition Without Hurting State or Municipal Treasuries—Great Opportunity For Highway Commission

John Clark Scates of Westbrook, who for several years has made a study of the road problem in the state, and whose booklet "Why Is New Hampshire Doing Better Road Work Than Maine," which has been so frequently quoted and commented upon by the press, estimates that approximately $300,000 can be made available for trunk line work in 1912. If it is a fact, as his figures surely seem to demonstrate, there is a great opportunity for the state highway commission.

Mr. Scates says: "Evidently during the coming year some of the worst and at the same time most traveled roads in the state should become a thing of the past. The greater part of the road from Kittery to Portland and from Fryeburg to Bridgton is a disgrace to any civilized community, and has done more to injure the fair name of the state than anything else.

"It is evident to everyone that little or nothing has been done this year on the trunk line road laid out by the last legislature. The reason is also obvious to those familiar with state affairs—a lack of ready cash. Next year will witness an entire change and the money already appropriated should be available. With this the automobile license fees will be approximately $300,000.

"The highway law provides that all moneys left over from the highway appropriation after the cities and towns applying for state aid have received their apportionment shall be applied to trunk line work. Here are the approximate figures:

Left over and unexpended from 1910 appropriation.....	$60,000
Left over and unexpended from 1911 appropriation.....	66,000
Estimated amount unexpended from 1912 appropriation.....	60,000
Automobile license fees, 1912, estimated.....	100,000
Total.....	$286,000

The amount from the 1912 appropriation, as well as the automobile license fees, will probably exceed the estimate, so the probable amount will be in excess of $300,000. "To be sure it is not obligatory on the part of the highway commission to use the automobile money for trunk line roads, for Section 21 of the automobile laws provides that all fees received "may be appropriated and used for the repair, maintenance and construction of state highways under the direction of the Maine State Highway Commission."

"Apparently the highway commission has absolute authority to expend the money received from the automobile license fees for any purpose it deems expedient and under any conditions, regulations or restrictions may be exact. This, to my mind, is perfectly correct. It allows the commission to add those municipalities most who will most aid themselves, or to use the money where it will best conserve and promote the interests and welfare of the state as a whole. It is admitted by everyone at all familiar with road conditions that the roads I have mentioned are the worst in the state, while at the same time they are more traveled than any others.

"To my mind the execrable condition of one of these roads is responsible for the death of two persons the past summer.

"When the state shall discard its patch-work system and reduce its road policy to somewhere near a business basis, the whole or such part of the automobile money as is necessary should be used for maintenance. Inspection in construction and maintenance afterwards are the two great essentials and in these we are woefully deficient.

"If there were 1000 miles of good dirt, gravel, sand-clay and macadam state road in the state today, the special tax on automobiles would maintain them and keep them in perfect condition, under a proper system of maintenance, without a dollar of expense to the municipalities or state. The thing to do is to build the roads and then keep them in repair with the automobile money."

"Then you think there will be a great improvement in the roads next year?"

"Most assuredly I do, why shouldn't we? The state officials are aware of the conditions, and mind you the money has already been appropriated, and while I have no knowledge, yet it is to be assumed that plans will be completed this winter and contracts let so that work may commence immediately the frost is out of the ground. It is to be expected that the gateways to the state, as well as some other roads that are in a deplorable condition will be reconstructed or improved. It is not to be expected that all roads are to be macadamized, even if it was desirable, for good gravel or even gravel roads after will in many parts of the state withstand all the travel they are called upon to bear. The price of good roads, no matter what the construction, is eternal repairs, for there is nothing permanent about a road, except the right of way. Once a dirt or gravel road is constructed the king drag, if properly used at the right time, will work wonders in keeping it in repair, beside the cost is nominal; a pair of horses and one man can drag from eight to twelve miles a day.

"It is a humiliating fact—a condition that those who have a pride in our grand old state will not suffer much longer to exist—that such states as New Hampshire and Vermont, to say nothing of all the other eastern states, have displayed much more intelligence and enterprise than Maine in the construction and repair of highways. The people of Maine desire better road conditions and are long will demand them in no uncertain tone. It is also humiliating to our state pride to be left so far behind in this line of civic improvement."

The Worn-out Woman.

A farmer's wife was tired all the time, when she got up and when she went to bed. Everything worried her; she scolded the children and her husband, and then cried because she had scolded. She couldn't remember what she said; even the minister's sermons were but a blur to her. So her husband took her to the doctor, who examined her as carefully as the machinist examines a fine piece of machinery. "Come and see me at the office," he said to the husband, when he had finished his examination. The husband went. The doctor showed him a card from his filing cabinet on which he had diagnosed the case as follows:

"Mrs. Blank—Age 40, looks 50; complexion sallow; eyes sunken and squinted; hair falling out; appetite poor (usually eats after family are through), food doesn't nourish; sleep, disturbed, food after children in the night, and gets up from 4 to 5 a. m.; interprets, none outside of home, has no diversions in the home. Worn-out. Children are growing away from her, think her dowdy and old-fashioned; husband wonders why she doesn't look as young as her older unmarried sister. Disappointments—husband's going to town by night; could like to join neighborhood club; no date; chickens; pipe and chicken destroyed flower beds. Remarks—Fine woman being spoiled for lack of cultivation; good start for case of melancholia. No organic trouble. Worn out?"

"Well?" queried the husband.

"What do you put up that silo for?" asked the doctor. "To get good feed in convenient form for winter, eh? How about the manure spreader? To save work and to get the manure into the ground in good condition, you say? I suppose you use your cultivator to put the ground in shape for feeding the plant? Looks as if you put lots of time and money into getting food to your ground and cattle. Did you ever think of the food your wife gets?"

He confessed he hadn't, but the doctor had, and told him so. "It's bad for the digestion to eat what's left when every one is hungry," he said. "You can't. Couldn't you take a little more time at the table, and eat with her?"

"I saw you taking down some machinery today; what were you oiling it for? So it wouldn't rust and get out of running order. Take care of your tools; but, say, did you ever think what a fine piece of machinery the body is? It would be worth a lot to you if you'd keep your wife in as good running order as your machinery. Yes, I know you work hard, and there's lots of work to be done, but you don't expect a 'worse engine to do the work of a four-horse engine in a busy season, do you? You'd find some way out of putting a horse with a cold in the harness too early, even in harvest, wouldn't you? Your wife has worked too hard, and brought you a fine family besides."

"What were you doing with that trotting colt the other day? Trying to get the best out of him by good feed and careful grooming and housing? Did you ever try to get the best possibilities of living out of your wife? Have you helped her to cultivate the faculties of her mind? Have you helped her in making a home and being a mother? When she married you, she was a musician. Did you tell her you wanted her to keep that talent in working order to make life sweeter for you both? She loves beauty. Did you ever tell her to enjoy the beauty of the sunset, or the smell and sight of the wild flowers? Have you made her a flower garden, and fenced out the pigs and chickens?"

"You can't see your machinery exposed to the weather, or the edge of a good tool dulled. Have you sheltered your wife from unnecessary exposure; have you, by your indifference to them, lessened her senses to the finest expressions of life—the sublimity of childhood, nature, and the charm of childhood? You want your wife to look neat. Did you ever think you don't look overly neat yourself sometimes when you sit at the table in your overalls, and perhaps keep the boots you wore about the barnyard?"

"Your wife wants to go to church, and to visit the neighbors. Have you provided her with a driving horse? If you haven't done all these things, you had better. Your wife is worn out; she has tried her best, but she hasn't had enough to look forward to. Women must have some purpose to lift them out of the grim farm life, or they break down. You must make more of her, and she'll get well; otherwise I won't answer for the consequences."

In after years, the formerly worn-out woman told how a loving husband, a garden fence, a flower garden and a driving horse had saved her from a sick spell, her husband told how a three-dollar doctor bill saved him a million-dollar wife.

Rough on the Aviator.
The physician turned to the office patient in the canvas coat and leggings.

"You must follow my directions implicitly," he said, handing him a small vial of liquid. "You are to take three drops in water every four hours."

"Three drops in water every four hours?" ejaculated the patient in a bewildered manner. "And I'm an aviator!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

HOW TO GROW MUSHROOMS.

The Method is Simple, and Financial Returns Are Good.

Mushrooms can be grown outdoors in summer time, but the ordinary method is to raise them in pits or cellars. Full directions can be had where bricks of spawn are purchased. The beds are made on benches along the wall or on the floor and consist of a thick layer of horse manure overlaid by three or four inches of dirt in which the spawn is planted. Break bricks of spawn up in small pieces and push these dry into the earth at distances of a foot or so apart. If insects appear one of the commercial insecticides provided for the purpose is used.

It is not practicable to make the spawn, as it would cost more for a small quantity than the price of the prepared bricks. Only large growers make their own spawn. Twelve or fifteen inches is deep enough for back of bed at any time. It should slope down to two or three inches at the front. The mushrooms sell at from 25 cents to $1 and sometimes more a pound, according to the demand and the season.

The work was done in a fine manner and we hope that we may have Bro.
Fogg and staff with us next year. Once more the tables were surrounded and after good music, good byes were said
and one more meeting was rounded out in the life of old Kezar Valley.

ALBANY.
Lesley Cummings is cutting pine for Robert Stearns.
The total number of births in town
during 1911 was 23, 2 males, 21 females.
The number of marriages was 2. There were 9 deaths, 4 females, 5 males.
Mrs. A. G. Bean, who has been in Leiston and Auburn visiting her sons and other relatives there, returned home last week. She also met her daughter, Nina F. Bean, who came from Torrington, Conn., to take Xmas dinner with her brothers and spent her holiday vacation visiting friends.
Valley Road.
Where is our open winter which so many have predicted? The thermometer stood 33 below zero in the Songo pond district, Sunday morning, and Monday noon six inches of snow had fallen. It looks like an old fashioned blizzard, and breaking roads will be the order of the day. It was still snowing, Tuesday.
Albany Line.
Ernest Brown visited his sister, Mrs.
John McAllister, Sunday.
Mrs. Fred McAllister has some very pretty plants in her new bay window.
Mrs. Horace Fiske was the recipient of a very fine sewing chair as a present.
Mrs. Ernest Brown is drawing a fine
rug. The old-time rug is very fashionable.
George Abbott, Walter Lord, Walter
Cawwell, Ora Saunders and Charles Eames have the telephone put into their houses.
Mrs. Charles Marston visited her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Littlefield, one day last week. She reports the new baby as growing fine.
Nora Abbott is doing a profitable business smoking hams. She smokes them in the old time way with corn cobs and they are elegant.
Jesse Littlefield, who had the misfortune to cut off his finger some time ago, has had a serious time with it but it is doing well at present.
William Fiske recently sold to J.
Philbrook a fancy pair of steers, also a fine calf. Mr. Fiske is noted for his fine cattle. It is hard to find their equal.

WEST FRYEBURG.
Charles Ballard.
Friday, January 5, Charles Ballard left his business in Somersworth, N. H., going to his camp in Wolfboro to take up Winnepesaukee. A friend with whom he camped was expected but not having arrived Mr. Ballard left a note in the camp that he was starting out at six
p. m. and would be back about eight but not to be worried if he did not come as he might go to some of the other camps.
In event of the friend whom he expected failing to meet him the driver of the livey team was to return in the morning to take Mr. Ballard back to Somersworth.
The ice in the lake broke up at ten o'clock that night and he had not returned to the camp nor had his friend arrived when the driver went to the camp
on Saturday morning and finding no one there spread the alarm and friends were notified and search made with only the depressing clew that tracks were made out to the lines and back and out again
not returning.
The ice had again closed the lake following the drop in the temperature and further quest became hopeless.
D. A. Ballard of West Fryeburg returned from Wolfboro on Monday, Jan.
Other immediate survivors are his father,
Dean A. Ballard, five sisters, Mrs. Fannie Webster of Conway, N. H., Mrs. Emma E. Walker, Louise, Ida and Alice, all of West Fryeburg, and a brother, Raymond Ballard of East Conway, N. H.
The tragedy ending of a promising career casts a gloom over the entire community, where Charles Ballard was as boy and man universally liked and respected, and the heartfelt sympathy of neighbors and friends goes out to the family in their grievous loss, also to the young wife who has made for herself
many friends among her husband's earlier associates.
James Meserve.
The sudden death of James Meserve
occurred Jan. 16, at the home of his son, Fred Meserve, at West Fryeburg at the age of 72 years. Mr. Meserve was always an active man and was out shoveling snow, when he was seized with a pain in his side. He reached the house, where he expired instantly. He was born in Jackson, N. H. He is survived by four children, Frank of Fryeburg, Fred Meserve and Mrs. George Colman of West Fryeburg and Mrs. Orono Fernald of Jackson, N. H. Services will be conducted Jan. 19, at 1:30 p. m.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

Union Meeting.
Rev. W. F. Berry of Waterville addressed the Union meeting of the churches of the village at the Congregational church, Sunday evening. Mr.
Berry represented the Christian Civic League of Maine and gave a very interesting talk on the Anti-Saloon question.

In opening his address he said that in ancient Rome it was instilled into the minds of the people that Carthage must fall, and so real this came to the people that Rome did fall. Likewise, as this was accomplished by the Romans, we must say that the saloon and the liquor traffic "must" fall, and it must be instilled into the minds of the people to such an extent, that in time it will fall.
He brought out many incidents of interest concerning the recent campaign, where things in the political wheel were not as they should be. Dr. Berry laid great stress on the fact that the laws in many incidents are not enforced, which is, in many cases a known fact to those in power of enforcement.

In the course of the evening he spoke of various newspapers of this State and of Massachusetts, in regard to their attitude taken during the campaign. He also gave a brief sketch of the work the League has been doing and what it intends to do in the future. It will be alive, will continue to work for the fall of the saloon and liquor traffic, for the enforcement of the laws, and the fight must grow stronger as new things are coming to light which will need the united endeavors of the people for the annihilation of the traffic.

Thoughts on the Corn Question.

We notice an article in the ADVERTISER of Dec. 29, copied from the Express entitled "The Sweet Corn Situation" which seems to us misleading in its statements and inferences as far as the situation in this vicinity. We only know of the business as conducted by Baxter Brothers at the shops at Fryeburg, North Fryeburg and Lovell. The writer intimates that the packers close the shops before the crop is in sometimes, because they have packed to their limit or have used all their cans, or on account of "whims" or "plans".
The factories of which we spoke have never done this, but in some instances,
when one man was late with his corn,
have held the shop open until he could get it there, and have sent men to assist in the picking of it. They have always been anxious for the corn.

The writer also presents another "problem" as he terms it and asserts that in former years corn planters at first of June were ready for packing by Aug. 20th or 25th, but that the packers now furnish the seed and intimates that it comes from southern Massachusetts and the Connecticut Valley and will not ripen as early as that from our own fields.

Now the fact is that the seed used here is raised here. Certain men have raised it for years, among the number,
O. P. Saunders of Sweden; W. A. Mar-
rill, Bennett McDaniels, W. A. LeBaron and C. G. and A. Lord of Lovell, and we presume others. Not only is this seed planted here, but we are told by a foreman of one of the factories that a great share of the seed planted in the middle and western states is grown in Maine and sent there. No other state is supposed to grow as good corn as Maine, and for that reason other states
send here for seed.

As near as we can learn the most of the trouble comes by men planting a large acreage of corn. The planting in many cases was late. That brought the hoeing late and the corn did not make as good progress as it would under more favorable circumstances. And then the frost came unusually early. Packing continued at these shops as long as the corn was fit for use.

There are many things bearing on this question. But if a man sees fit to plant sweet corn and the frost destroys it in July, August or September before it is fit for the factory, we can hardly see why the packer is in fault. The man knows when he plants it he is taking more chances than with yellow corn.

If the heat destroys the apple crop, or the rot attacks the potato crop, the farmer must suffer the loss. Why not if the packer furnishes proper home grown seed, and takes the crop as long as it is fit to use, and even longer in cases where it is too hard for packing?

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

Gentlemen's Night.
The members of the W. C. T. U. of Bolster's Mills observed Gentlemen's night Wednesday evening, Jan. 10, at the home of Mrs. A. W. Weston, whose spacious parlors were brilliantly lighted.
After a social hour the following program prepared by the committee consisting of Mrs. A. W. Weston, Mildred Ingersoll and Mildred Mills was much enjoyed:

Song—Mrs. Fannie Wright.
Reading—Mildred Mills.
Readings—Mildred Mills.
Duet—Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner, Mildred Ingersoll.
Duet—Mrs. Weston, Miss Ingersoll.

Refreshments were served in English style. Games were enjoyed. The president of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Fannie Wright, is energetically pushing the work of the union and several new members have been added to the society. The

Before Allowing an Operation

Please Read These Two Letters.
The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before. Then after all that suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored her health.

HERE IS HER OWN STATEMENT.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief, and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. To-day I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise every woman who is afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—MRS. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Mich.

"THERE NEVER WAS A WORSE CASE."

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of women's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month, and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."
—MRS. MARGARET MEREDITH, R. F. D. No. 3, Rockport, Ind.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justly to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.
Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice.
Your letter will be opened, read and answered
by a woman and held in strict confidence.

A Guest's Duties.

When on a Visit Much is Expected.
A great deal is said about the art of entertaining and hostesses receive innumerable hints as to the proper way to give guests pleasure. But how about the guest? Has she no duties to perform? Is nothing expected of the one who visits except that she accept all the hostess has to give her?

The art of being a perfect guest—and it is an art—seems to be a thing of the past. The modern method of visiting over Sunday, a visit which is filled with informality and freedom, has no doubt caused the death of the old-time guest,
with her charms and her dignity and tact.

Nowadays one sees a great deal about the perfect hostess, and where the hostess does not come up to the mark people quickly decline to visit her house.
She must never interfere with the whims and caprices of her guests, but must always allow them to use her servants, her house, her motor cars, her horses—in fact everything as if they were their own. This apparently is the standard which the modern hostess must live up to.

If the modern guests would only give more thought to their own shortcomings instead of demanding so much of the hostess, visiting would be more pleasant and parties for over Sunday would be free from all discomfort.

Even when visiting a large establishment, where numerous servants are kept one must study the art of being a perfect guest. The constant demands of the guests may be thoroughly provided for, but even so, it is not a hotel and the guest must be tact and consideration will be more welcome than one who uses servants and house as if she were paying her board instead of accepting hospitality.

The girl who adapts herself to her surroundings, who is quick and smilingly into the ways of the house, hold in which she is visiting will always be popular and will be asked frequently to come again.

HEBRON.

Hebron Academy.
John Fitzgerald, '12, on account of illness has returned to his home in Bath.
Friday afternoon, the seniors at their class meeting decided to go to Lewiston games will be allowed. A series of six games will be played. The senior class already have a team organized with "Bull" Fuller as captain and Perkins as manager.

At the social, Friday evening, the music was furnished by the school orchestra of six pieces. Many were delightfully surprised at the fine quality of the music rendered.

The date for the annual banquet of the Hebron Debating society is Feb. 24.
Rehearsals for a play are now in progress, soon to be given by the senior

Glory of the Midwinter Skies.

At no other time in the year do such splendid constellations circle nightly across the heavens as in midwinter. The winter part of January and the first part of February is a season of the year when conditions are especially favorable for stargazing. In the February number of Popular Mechanics Magazine, Prof.
Forest Ray Moulton tells where to look for some of the planets and constellations and tells some "interesting" facts about them. A number of illustrations accompany the article, one of the Pleiades having been made with "light" which started from those distant stars about 300,000 years ago, or 250 years before the invention of photography.

Next week we publish "A Sunset Migration." A trip from our own Oxford County home-land to Los Angeles, California. This is well worth reading.
